MY "C" BOOK BY JANE BELK MONCURE PDF

The "My First Steps to Reading" series is based on a teaching activity that helps children learn to recognize letters and their sounds. The use of predictable language patterns and repetition of familiar words will also help your child build a basic sight vocabulary. Your child will enjoy watching the characters in the books place imaginative objects in "letter boxes." You and your child can even create and fill your own letter box, using stuffed animals, cut-out pictures, or other objects beginning with the same letter. This book concentrates on the hard "c" sound in the story line. Blends are included. Words beginning with the soft "c" sound are included at the end of the book.

Wonderful Series

By Nancy C Walker

We purchased this series to help my oldest learn to read. His Kindergarten teacher had told us he would never learn to read. The books are simply written and maintain the same plot line through all the books. The main character is always "Little (letter of the book)." Each character has a box and decides to fill it with items that start with that letter. My oldest (now 8) reads on the 6th grade level with full comprehension. These books have done wonders in our house. I'm sorry to find that this series is now so hard to come by. I will definately hold on to these for my other children and then for their children.

Great for Learning to Read

By Paul Ward

This book is part of an excellent series by Jane Belk Moncure that is really useful for teaching children to read. We are currently going through this with a 4-and-a-half year old and a three year old. There is only one series that is better, which is the Peter and Jane series "Key Words Reading Scheme." Why is it that I have to hunt around 2nd hand bookstores to find the best two series for teaching children to read?

We loved these books and Wish we had them for all our kids!

By Chris Naron

Sadly, we didn't discover these gems until my middle was already reading and so my youngest was the only one to get to use them. I found every book in the series online and through friends and so glad we found them! They are great in they help children recognize words by site and sound. Each letter is represented by a child with that letter on his or her shirt. They go on a quest to put things in a box that have that sound....for C, it would be cat, corn, calf,...etc. in the back of the book, it lists things that begin with that letter with a hard or soft sound; in the "c" case, the soft "s" sound like circle or cycle.

I disagree with the reviewer about it being inappropriate. It's innocent and if you teach your child separately about "stranger danger," no worries. Neither my middle or youngest "went there" with the meaning that reviewer implied. To them, it was just about the sounds those items put into the box make. "Clown, cap,..." Etc, are just those things.

I can't say enough great things about these books. If you find them in a used book store or thrift store, snatch them up!
