You don't have to pay for it

By Mickay

This is a fine Bible but before you buy one I would recommend that you simply ask one of Jehovah's Witnesses. At least in the US they don't charge for them, you can donate for it you choose but it is whatever you feel you can afford

PS you can go to the website and read or download online too

It is what it is

By Amazon Customer

I am by no means a Bible scholar or a religious person, but I enjoy reading the Bible and collecting the various translations. In short, this is the Bible of the Jehovah's Witnesses. The book itself is surprisingly well made, the covers and binding feel very strong and the paper is excellent with almost no ghosting issues. There are evangelical bits at the front of the book aimed at non-JWs and a large amount of material at the back which includes a concordance, dictionary, maps, and explanations of weights and measures. It also contains a very exustive section on how the Bible was "translated". I put that word in quotation marks because I highly question the fact that this is an actual translation. Seeing that none of the "translators" knew any Hebrew or Greek (one did, but his knowledge was very rudimentary), and based on the wording of the text, I would consider this a clever paraphrase that has been doctored to suit the JW's beliefs. That being said, if you are interested in learning more about the religion, this is an excellent resource. The readability is excellent and clear, all in modern English. There isn't much different about this Bible from others aside from the various heresies that are inserted at various points (For example, John 1:1 reads "In the beginning was the word, and the word was with god, and the word was A god"), so this is a good resource to see just how the JW's are able to back up some of their beliefs. If you are a serious reader of the Bible though, stay as far away as you can, this is NOT an accurate translation by any means. But it is what it is, and if enjoying other religions is your thing, this is an excellent resource.

I like to study many interpretations and how others faith are ...

By Thomas J. Allen

As a Seventh Day Adventist, I bought this to review how the JW Render their bibles... I like to study many interpretations and how others faith are perceived. There are some interesting facts about Jewish history and proper calendar names which I found very interesting. They also have the SDA Nebuchadnezzar Statue artwork in their bible rendering the proper sections of the kingdoms (A+). I was also surprised that this bible proclaimed the proper links to the Nephilim in Gen 6 where as teh SDA's link it to the sons of Seth which I totally disagree with. For some reason the SDA's does not believe in (I Do). I was also surprised that their back end dictionary as well as rendered text proclaimed the proper Seventh Day as the Sabbath. I wonder why they do not follow it? I do know some JW's who also look at the Catholic Church as Babylon which is our top teaching in the SDA Church along with the 3 Angels Messages. But why do they keep her day of worship? The venerable day of the Sun enabled by Constantine in 321AD? As for the rest of the text rendered in this bible, I noticed many areas that was re-written which to me looks like it was done to agree with their theology. In my view parts of teh info in this book is a good resource but the bible itself is corrupted... If you are a serious bible student, stick with the Cambridge KJV.
